OTHER:

I started working at Cape Canaveral supporting radar/telemetry systems. Most of my career has been designing thermal and laser targeting systems for the U.S. military, starting my own engineering firm in 2006. I have travelled across the country testing at military installations, including Ft. Greely. After coming to Alaska, I fell in love with the outdoors, the people, and state politics. I have passion to support our community through my service and believe my knowledge of the legislative process gives me an advantage to focus on the priorities of our district and to ensure our core values are not infringed upon.

STATEMENT:

I am the “Common-Sense Conservative” for House District 34. Listed below are highlights of my positions.

FISCAL RESPONSIBILITY – Maintaining a reasonable, sustainable budget is key to Alaska’s long-term stability. Prioritizing key infrastructure needs to be maintained while not negatively impacting Alaskans. To do this, we need to fight any efforts to implement new taxes and cut unnecessary spending.

SMALLER GOVERNMENT – The government should have a limited role in providing minimal services or regulations, especially in the private sector.

PRIVATE ECONOMY – Entrepreneurs and small businesses are the backbone of the Alaskan dream. Our government should not restrict our business owners from unjust regulations but pave the road for successful ventures.

NO NEW TAXES ON ALASKAN WORKERS – We do not need an income tax in Alaska. We need to ensure equitable taxation on all profiting off Alaska.

RESPONSIBLE RESOURCE DEVELOPMENT – The expanse of diverse resources in Alaska is unlike any other state. I believe we need to responsibly expand sustainable uses of our public lands that offer billions in economic opportunity.

FULL STATUTORY PFD – All Alaskans should be paid the full statutory PFD and not have what is in the statutes reallocated at the will of the Government.

SECURE ALASKA STATE RIGHTS FROM THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT – The federal government needs to respect our state’s rights and should not be able to unreasonably influence our liberties.

SUPPORT 2nd AMENDMENT RIGHTS – These rights shall not be infringed upon.
